Essentials of Modern Slavery Awareness

Many of us believe that slavery is no longer a significant human rights issue. However, slavery is still very prevalent around the world, and even occurs in Australia. As individuals, we have a moral obligation to avoid supporting operations that involve slavery, and many businesses have a legal obligation to do so. This course explains how modern slavery occurs today and the various forms it can take. It also explains how slavery can be present in supply chains that we rely upon, and the legal obligations set out in the Modern Slavery Act that apply to many Australian businesses.

Course structure and delivery

This course is delivered online at the learner's own pace and takes about 30 minutes to complete, though it can be completed over multiple sessions. At the conclusion of the training, learners will undertake a brief quiz which must be passed to complete the course.

Built-in course features

All MCQ International courses are designed to operate on a wide variety of devices, including computers, iPads, tablets and mobile phones. Optional accessibility features include audio narration, dark mode display, and a distraction-free 'reader view'. Course progress is recorded automatically across all devices.

About our 'Essentials' courses

MCQ International offers two options for your training needs: our Comprehensive courses cover a broader subject area in depth and are suitable for management and roles with higher compliance risks. Our Essentials courses each take around 25-40 minutes to complete, are more focused on specific training topics, and are suitable for roles at all levels. You can easily mix-and-match both options to suit your needs.

Topics covered in the course

The Essentials of Modern Slavery Awareness course covers the following topic areas:

- Introduction to the problem of modern slavery
