

MCQ International is proud to present

Equal Employment Opportunity Compliance Training

MCQ International has recently taken over management of CCH Australia's trusted Online Compliance Learning portfolio.

Whether your organisation has 5 or 5,000 employees, you can't afford not to face up to Equal Employment Opportunity issues. Apart from the moral imperative to ensure a non-threatening and fair workplace environment, there are significant legal responsibilities shared by all employers and employees. In cases involving harassment, bullying and discrimination, ignorance of the law is not a valid defence, and nor is a lack of intent to cause offence or harm. Employers can also be personally held accountable for the actions of their staff. So the need to provide high quality education in EEO is obvious.
